

FEB 14, 2023

Anthony Roth Costanzo Headlines Princeton Symphony Orchestra 2023-24 Season

By David Salazar

The Princeton Symphony Orchestra has announced its 2023-24 season. For the purposes of this article, our focus will be on vocal performances.

The season's first vocal showcase will be Mozart's Requiem with the Westminster Symphonic Choir. Rossen Milanov conducts. The program will also feature Caroline Shaw's "Entr'acte" and Gregory Spears' new versions of the Sanctus, Benedictus, and Agnus Dei for Mozart's "Requiem."

Performance Date: Nov. 11 & 12, 2023

Anthony Roth Costanzo will lead a concert featuring music by Händel and Gregory Spears. The concert will also show Nina Shekhar's "Lumina" and Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 4 in F minor, Op. 36. Rossen Milanov conducts the Princeton Symphony Orchestra.

Performance Date: Jan. 13 & 14, 2024

